Another information source to consider is the Internet. There are many Web sites that provide all kinds of information for inventors. Such sites include:

Canada-Saskatchewan Business Service Centre

Phone: 306-956-2323 (Saskatoon) or toll free: 1-800-667-4374
CSBSC Web site offers information on a wide variety of topics of interest to inventors. The CSBSC also has "Inventor's Kits" available which include information on patents, a list of internet sites for inventors, articles of interest, as well as information on current federal and provincial programs that assist inventors.

National Research Council Canada

NRC is Canada's premier science and technology research organization. Working in partnership with innovative companies, universities, and research organizations worldwide, NRC enhances Canada's social and economic well-being and creates new opportunities for Canadians. Their Web site provides information on what the NRC does, where they are located and what they can do for you as an inventor.

Delphion

Delphion provides the most comprehensive intellectual asset management (IAM) software and services available today. Delphion solutions empower business and intellectual property (IP) professionals to analyze, manage, and leverage IP assets - including ideas, patents, and licensing opportunities.

Oyen Wiggs Green & Mutala LLP

Oyen, Wiggs, Green, and Mutala LLP is the largest intellectual property law firm in Western Canada. Their practice includes patents, trade-marks, copyright, industrial designs, trade secrets, computer law, technology transfer and licensing, franchising, unfair competition, and anti-combines (anti-trust) law.

Canadian Innovation Centre

The Canadian Innovation Centre has a process for guiding innovators and their innovations to the market. We've perfected it over the past 27 years. Our process is based on sound market research and original market insight.

Additional information on product development and intellectual property may be available through the public library, bookstores, or other local sources of business information.
